

FCCDear Folks:

I am a new subscriber to XM radio, and I am very excited about it's possibilities, especially due to my boredom and disgust for regular radio programming. I don't have XM weather available for my city, but we recently drove to a city that did, and it was invaluable to have advance notice of traffic problems and weather even as we were travelling. The music choices are unbelievable, and there needs to be even more to choose from, not less, as the National Association of Broadcasters would have it. Satellite Radio is a totally different media, and the networks and broadcasters should have no say in it. I respectfully urge you to reject the NAB's petition 04-160, and let satellite radio grow into whatever it can become. Thank you for your time to read this note.
